Demos endorse Hartigan

GRANITE CITY — Neil Hartigan received the endorsement of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee for the 1986 governor nomination Monday night.

The vote of the executive committee was 31-4 for Hartigan, a former lieutenant governor now serving as Illinois attorney general. The committee is chosen from among precinct committeemen in each township in Madison County.

"I THINK HARTIGAN will run well in Madison County," said Mac Warfield of Granite City, chairman of the county committee. "He's spent a lot of time here both as lieutenant governor and attorney general and knows the people and the concerns of this area."

"He's always honest with you and I think he'll be a good governor."

Monday's meeting was also attended by several prominent local Democrats, including Christ Costoff of Madison, former county Democratic chairman; Walter "Buck" Simmons, clerk of the Fifth District Appellate Court and the party's former state central committeeman for this Congressional district; and State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

HARTIGAN ALSO has received the endorsement of county chairmen in Jackson, Williamson, Randolph and seven other downstate counties.

Already campaigning actively, he said Tuesday he was "especially grateful" for the Madison County endorsement. The county traditionally returns the second largest Democratic vote in Southern Illinois.

"Neil Hartigan has the support of almost every Democratic leader in this area as well as the rank and file Democratic voters," Warfield said.

"ADLAI (STEVENS) is a good man, but he's had his chance and lost, and the voters know that. The best thing he could do for the Democratic party would be to support Hartigan so we could only start today, to accomplish the goal we all should put first, and that is to beat Jim Thompson in November 1986."

Warfield added that Hartigan is to be the featured speaker at the Madison County party's John F. Kennedy dinner Nov. 16.

Stevenson, a former United States senator, was in Granite City Tuesday to confer with potential backers and said he would not be deterred from running for governor despite the many endorsements Hartigan has received from Democrats.

RETIRING AFTER 10 years as a U.S. senator, 1970-80, Stevenson lost a hotly-contested election to Thompson in November 1982. Polls had indicated Thompson would win more easily, but the margin proved to be razor-thin. Stevenson sought a recount but it was turned down by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Thompson, a Republican, announced in August he would be seeking his fourth term next year.

Stevenson said he will officially announce his candidacy for governor Oct. 22. He said Hartigan lacks an adequate program for the state, Thompson has done poorly, and he (Stevenson) will put together an effective campaign despite the relatively late start.

More funding needed for ditch maintenance

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The cleaning of drainage ditches could cause a drainage of funds in the Metro-East Sanitary District.

The termination of the Cahokia Canal-Harding Ditch project means the district will have no additional ditches to maintain, but more funds are needed to clean the existing ditches, according to MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse.

The Illinois legislature earmarked $500,000 in Build Illinois funds for dredging the Cahokia Canal and the Madison County Ditch. But $1.2 million originally was requested, Greathouse said during Wednesday's MESD Board meeting.

"I hope we've got enough clout with our representatives," Greathouse said about obtaining funds to dredge ditches, including the Cahokia Canal. "I hope we can get this done. I hope they don't cut it out of the Build Illinois program."

"The only thing I want is to get the ditches cleaned," he said. "What we really need here is a mass of new equipment. We've got good help, but the equipment is falling apart."

A letter from Lt. Gov. George Ryan informed the MESD that additional Build Illinois funds are available. Ryan, who serves as chairman of the Build Illinois committee, said the committee will be reviewing proposed projects and requests for the funds.

OTHER ACTION

Other matters to come before the MESD Board Wednesday included the following:

• MESD owes approximately $10,000 as its share for a professional appraisal of Granite City Steel. The appraisal was performed when the steel plant disputed its assessment.

Insurance in jeopardy; claims may not be paid

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city may be responsible for some outstanding insurance claims because its former insurer may go bankrupt.

Northwest Insurance Co. of Portland, Ore., is in receivership and seeking reorganization, according to assistant city attorney John Hopkins.

"IF YOU SAY there are four steps to bankruptcy, they're in step three away from bankruptcy," Hopkins explained. "At the present organization structure, the city's outstanding claims will no longer be honored."

Northwest Insurance provided the city's insurance from 1980 to 1983. About a dozen personal injury claims and an equal number of other claims are still pending since that time, Hopkins said.

The company has been trying to reorganize since January, but all attempts at reorganization, have failed so far, Hopkins said.

"THEY'RE STILL working with the possibility of another company taking over the insurance company, but we won't know anything until December," Hopkins said.

In the meantime, the city could pay its own outstanding claims and seek reimbursement from Northwest when it is reorganized, he said.

But if reorganization fails and the company does go bankrupt, other ways to pay the claims will have to be studied.

"There are options for recourse but they have to be looked at before they're laid out," Hopkins said.

McKinley Bridge repair 'wish list'

By VALERIE EVDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — A "Christmas wish list" of capital improvements for the McKinley Toll Bridge in Venice, with expenditures totaling $1,862,600, up $45,370 from last year, was adopted by the City Council Tuesday night.

There is virtually no chance of the major improvements projected actually materializing, Tom Fields, bridge manager, said Wednesday.

"IF THERE was enough money, or if magically a million dollars would appear from somewhere, this is what we would like to do," he said.

Hardesty and Hanover of New York, the McKinley Bridge's consulting engineering firm, is obligated to produce a bond ordinance projecting capital improvements each year, Fields said.

The city-owned McKinley Bridge's operations and maintenance budget for operation of the toll bridge for the bond year beginning Oct. 1, 1985, and ending Sept. 30, 1986, was adopted at the previous council session.

BUDGETED for operating expenses was a total of $1,119,637.

The new operations budget is $361,869 higher than the 1984-85 figure of $757,768, primarily due to a $300,000 line item added to this year's budget as a special projects fund.

The special fund is to supplement projects now funded through the replacement and improvement account, which is limited to about $80,000, Fields said.

"Since we are doing good business now (bridge traffic) and are taking care of our primary obligations, it was decided to establish the new line in the budget to improve the general physical condition of the bridge."

"THE ENGINEERS have got a couple of projects in mind that should be done with the money. A final decision will be made after the annual engineering inspection of the structure," he said.

"About $11 million in B bonds is still outstanding on the bridge, but we have been catching up with delinquent interest payments in the last seven years," the manager said.

A minimum of two coupons has been paid each year and sometimes as many as five a year to bondholders, Fields added.

The operations budget also includes an increase for Missouri real estate taxes, showing $62,196 in the new budget compared to $36,000 last year.

OTHER BUDGET funds as itemized are: Operating expenses, $280,115 (up $47,789); maintenance expenses, $380,530 (up $265,144); painting, reserve, $57,800 (up $4,800); and general and administrative expenses, $401,392 (up $44,136).

A monthly breakdown of the budget shows the heaviest expenditures are anticipated in November 1985, when expenses of $104,596 are listed, and in May 1986, with $103,679 in costs.

The "wish list" capital improvements include:

$1,019,500 for replacement of pipe and lattice-type railing and main spans; $101,500 in miscellaneous repairs and improvements; $416,200 for miscellaneous structural repairs; and $168,800 for rehabilitation of expansion bearings on deck truss main spans.

Cigarette tax smolders; Thompson for increase

By BILL WINTER
Staff writer

Cigarettes may be condemned by some as unhealthy. But governments look kindly on them as revenue producers, prompting a tug-of-war this fall between officials in Springfield and Washington.

1. With the federal tax of 16 cents a pack scheduled to be cut in half Sept. 28, Illinois legislators voted to boost the state tax 8 cents, from 12 to 20 cents, Oct. 1 (contingent on the U.S. tax decrease).

2. AWARE THE DEFICIT is still rising, Pres. Ronald Reagan signed legislation late Monday extending the 16-cent tax until Nov. 14, by which time a decision will be made on whether to retain it or reduce it.

3. Noting that the General Assembly already has earmarked a $100 million a year cigarette tax hike to help implement school reforms, Gov. James Thompson hinted Tuesday he will push for state action on an 8-cent increase regardless of what Uncle Sam does. He remarked, "You cannot drop $100 million and do what we promised to do for education."

The state's intent had been to reap a revenue bonanza without affecting the overall cost to the cigarette-buying public. Thompson said Reagan told him in June any extension of the 16-cent U.S. tax would be vetoed.

THE GOVERNOR said Tuesday a veto was not possible because the federal tax extension was linked to other crucial legislation.

Thompson added dejectedly, "Until 11 o'clock Monday night, I thought there was hope."

With Illinois senators and representatives now back in session to consider Thompson's 273 August and September vetoes, cigarette taxation has suddenly emerged "smoking hot" as the most burning issue, Capitol wits report.

DONNING ROSE-colored glasses, House leaders said they might withhold action until next spring to see if current taxes are producing more money than estimated.

Street signs vandalized in Chouteau

Nameoki postal service to resume at shopping center

Granite City Postmaster Larry Wood today announced that the Nameoki Station located in the Bellemore Village Shopping Center will reopen on Monday, Oct. 7, at 8:45 a.m.

The Nameoki Station has been closed since Dec. 26, 1984, due to a fire at the Bellemore Shopping Center.

"POST OFFICE boxholders at the Nameoki Station will no longer have to travel to the main post office to pick up their mail," Wood said. "The boxholders will receive credit toward their rental fees for the period the station has been closed."

"We appreciate the patience shown by the customers who normally use the station in waiting for its reopening."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

People who are building a home need to understand the importance of lien waivers so that they do not end up paying more than the original contract price. Illinois law provides that anyone, who performs work or supplies materials for work on a residence has a lien against the land itself. This encumbrance upon the property is known as a mechanic's lien, and it applies not only to the person who contracts directly with the owner of the land but also to any subcontractors who are employed by the general contractor.

The owner of the property must be careful in paying out sums due to the general contractor since the general contractor may not in turn pay the subcontractors. If the owner of the property makes payments to the general contractor who in turn fails to pay subcontractors, the owner can end up paying the subcontractors for work for, and actually pay more than the original contract price. The way to avoid this problem is to insist upon lien waivers signed by a general contractor and all subcontractors before any payments are made.

Recently, the owners of some land contracted with a general contractor to build them a home, the general contractor in turn employed a carpenter in the construction of the home at an hourly rate of $11.49. When the work was completed, the general contractor had failed to pay the carpenter all of the monies that were owed. The carpenter filed a notice and claim for mechanic's lien against the owner's property for more than $1,500 due him in wages. It should be noted that the owner had not bothered to insist on lien waivers in this case.

The owners argued that the carpenter was in fact an employee of the general contractor and therefore was not entitled to enforce a lien under the Mechanic's Lien Act because he was not a subcontractor. The Appellate Court noted that the Act identifies the subcontractor as a workman, or other person performing services or labor for the contractor. The Court stated that it could find no basis to exclude the carpenter from coverage under the Mechanic's Lien Act and therefore the owners of the property faced the potential of having to pay his wages in that they failed to obtain lien waivers before they paid the general contractor.

Elephants to erect Venice circus tent

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

The world's largest herd of captive elephants will begin arriving about an hour after dawn tomorrow in Lee Park, Venice, where the last of America's big tented circuses will present two performances at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 4.

The 25 elephants will be in the advance contingent of an 80-vehicle caravan and the huge beasts still help to put up the circus tent, pulling into place more than 100 metal poles of varying lengths which support the big top.

"We get a big thrill from having the public watch us set up," said D. R. Miller, owner of the show.

SPONSORED by Venice Lions, the Carson and Barnes 5-Ring Circus also will present a traveling zoo, free to all circus patrons, featuring more than 200 wild and domestic animals, including a giraffe, hippopotamus and rhinoceros.

Proceeds will be used by the Lions to aid handicapped and disadvantaged children in this area.

Advance tickets, $3 for children aged 12 and under and $5 for adults, are available tonight at area business firms and from Venice Lions members. At the gate Friday, adult tickets will cost $6 and children's $4.

The circus big top is flameproof and covers 380,150 feet, larger than a football field. Featured inside are five rings, two stages, a steel arena and a hippodrome track.

ASIAN TIGERS and Arabian lions will perform in the steel arena to the commands of Patricia White, animal trainer. Other features include five herds of performing Asian and African elephants and ring upon ring of prancing liberty horses.

Trapeze artistry and bareback riding highlight segments of the show. Among the 111 acts are four troupes of flying trapeze stars and, for the first time in circus history, three triple-somersaulting athletes.

COMPETING FOR audience attention will be a unicycle on the high wire, and three world-class groups of teeterboard performers.

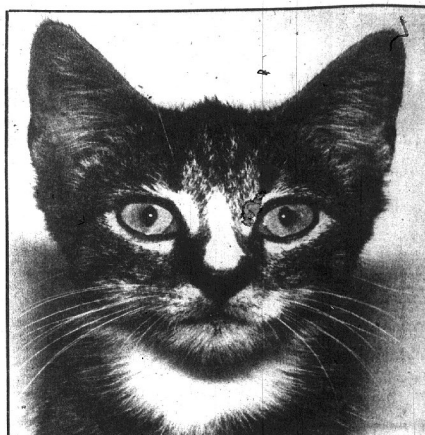

There will be an elaborately costumed spectacle — Rio Razzle Dazzle — and a 40-person aerial ballet.

Tickets for the Venice circus may be purchased tonight only at discount price at various locations, Earl Hogan, chairman, said.

Patrick will lead agency

Donald D. Patrick, a lifelong resident of Pontoon Beach, has accepted the position of executive director for the North East Community Action Corp., with its main office located in Bowling Green, Mo.

Patrick will serve as the chief executive officer of the 12-county community service agency. He will supervise and administer the 12 separate county offices, a staff of 55 and a budget of $3 million dollars.

HE WILL ASSUME his new post Oct. 1 and will reside in Louisiana, Mo. He had previously been serving as executive director for the Greater St. Louis Council of Camp Fire Girls and Boys, a position he accepted in August 1981.

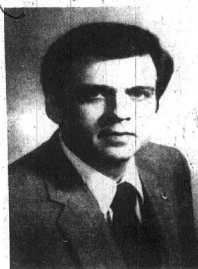

Patrick is credited with the resurgence of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club. In April 1976, when the club was in danger of having its charter recalled by Lions International, he was elected president by the four remaining active members.

While he was president, 24 new active members were installed, weekly fund-raising was organized, regular meetings were held and a functioning board was elected and seated.

WITH THE SUCCESS of his bingo games, the club was able to make good on all its past debts and place itself in a strong financial condition. Since 1977, the club has been active in the Quad-City community and currently owns and operates its own building, Lions Den II, in Pontoon Beach.

In 1982, Patrick was elected governor of Illinois Lions District 1-G. As district governor, he served as the executive officer to 51 Lions clubs in 13 southwestern Illinois counties with a membership of 2,300.

Patrick holds degrees from Belleville Area College and the University of Missouri in public administration. He is a Vietnam War veteran, awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious achievement in ground operations against hostile forces May 27, 1971, in the Can Tho Delta.

FOR THREE YEARS he was the police juvenile officer in Pontoon Beach and for four years he was a counselor and Co-ordinated Youth Services executive for the Pontoon Beach and Madison offices.

He has been a Tri-City Area YM-CA board member, president of the Granite City School District Citizens Advisory Council, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce committee member, Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council, Exploring Division board member, Tri-Cities Area United Way committee member, chairman of the Pontoon Beach Bicentennial Planning Committee and past adult advisor to Pontoon Beach Explorer Post 255.

Patrick created and originated the Pontoon Beach "Citizen of the Year" award which has been presented annually since 1976 to residents who have given years of active volunteer service.

VEHICLE LOOTED OF TOOLS

Clyde Walker, a worker for Norfolk & Western Railway, said Sept. 23 someone broke into a locked backhoe by removing door glass on the left side of the vehicle. Taken from the vehicle were assorted hand tools, a fire extinguisher, three pounds of axle grease, a safety helmet, safety glasses and a safety book. A door handle on the right side was broken off.

Sibling class here Oct. 5

"The arrival of a new baby is an important event which affects everyone in the family — especially the other siblings. To help them understand and welcome the arrival of their newest family member, children are invited to attend the Expectant Sibling Class on Oct. 5 sponsored by St. Elizabeth Medical Center," an SEMC spokeswoman said. The class, which was developed by Laura Bernaia, R.N. and clinical instructor, and Diane Hudson, R.N. and pre-natal consultant, includes a tour of the Obstetrics Department, demonstrations and practice sessions on holding, diapering and feeding an infant, a storytime period, and discussions on expectations and feelings about a new baby. The children will have a chance to dress up in scrub shirts and to make a "welcome card" for the baby. At the end of the class, the children will receive certificates of completion. The class, which is held every six weeks free of charge, is open to children two years of age or older, whose mothers are at least six months pregnant. A parent must accompany the child and be involved in some class activities. The class will be held on Saturday, Oct. 5, from 10 a.m. to noon. For more information, the Obstetrics Department can be contacted at 798-3940.

Car title fraud, odometer penalty

Consumers will have additional safeguards against vehicle title fraud under a new law. "Rolling back odometers or changing other information on a title is a serious crime, but until now we've had few tools to use against perpetrators of this fraud." It is now a crime to alter a vehicle title. Before falsified titles had to be prosecuted under federal mail fraud laws. "This bill, for the first time, will allow state's attorneys to prosecute cases involving odometer rollbacks and SV (salvage vehicle) notation deletions," Edgan said. "Rolling back an odometer or removing a REBUILT or SV notation can increase the value of a vehicle by as much as $2,500. Although our computers will tell us that a title has been altered, that is too late for the unsuspecting buyer. This law will discourage such fraud and make it easier for law enforcement authorities to prosecute and obtain convictions."

Hold the line on water costs

Illinois-American Water Company makes a lot of sense in its petition to the Illinois Pollution Control Board. It wants to continue depositing water and sand in the Mississippi River at East St. Louis as part of its process of purifying water for the public's use in Madison and St. Clair counties.

To stop doing what it always has done, the utility would have to spend $8.5 million to build new facilities and expend $150,000 on yearly operating and maintenance costs. IAWC estimates that Customers numbering 50,000 — commercial, industrial, fire protection and residential — would be faced with a 10 percent rate increase.

Testimony by Robert W. Greaves, the longtime vice president and manager, shows the utility has been "doing its thing" here since August 1916 with considerable skill and efficiency and an absence of environmental problems. The East St. Louis water treatment plant itself dates back to 1885; a total of $35 million has been invested over the years in keeping it up to date.

We can add a bit of personal testimony: The taste of local water is much better than the water in many communities in the U.S. And "boil orders" to cope with incidents of contamination have been mighty few here, in sharp contrast to some nearby areas not served by Illinois-American.

As Greaves noted, a study by the State Water Survey Division of the Illinois Department of Natural Resources determined that the discharge from the water plant causes no harm to the environment.

A strong case can be made for the Pollution Control Board to issue a site-specific exception to its effluent standards in this instance.

The hearing testimony brought out that "utility rates are obviously a consideration in deciding to locate in a given area. Increasing rates without sound environmental justification" would cause needless harm to family budgets and to each community's business and industrial base.

Truck-turn corner dangerous

Routing of big trucks over 19th Street rather than 19th is logical and has worked well for a long time. The latter is a principal street of the downtown business and shopping district.

But construction of the 19th Street overpass several years ago, linking downtown and West Granite City, has added another dimension that needs to be studied.

The front page of the Sept. 29 Press-Record/Record included a photograph of an eastbound truck that had descended the overpass. The vehicle's driver tried to comply with the law by immediately turning right onto Benton Street toward 19th, but the load had a mind of its own.

A 50,000-pound coil of steel buckled the truck bed and then rolled onto the street, where it could have crushed — but did not — people or anything else in its path.

The sharp turn at the bottom of an incline is a big part of the problem. This is particularly true when there is rain or ice, but it was fair weather Sept. 27.

The danger is heightened by the practice of vehicles being parked along Benton near the overpass.

There are regulations to limit such parking (a two-hour zone), but nevertheless autos often are present close to the corner. This further restricts the space available to truck drivers to complete their 90-degree turn.

Before somebody is mashed by an overturning truck, new rules for this intersection ought to be devised. One positive step would be to eliminate parking entirely in the area of Benton near 19th.

State losing battle against infant mortality

To the Editor:
Illinois should invest in its future by appropriating money to ensure healthy babies. I support the effort to override Gov. Thompson's vetoes of money for the Women, Infants and Children program.

Infant mortality in this rich society is a terrible tragedy. Unfortunately, Illinois has the distinction of ranking 46th of all the states in combating this problem. We can do better.

The WIC program is the most successful government effort to reduce the high infant mortality rate in the U.S. It provides coupons redeemable by pregnant and postpartum women for nutrition supplements and infant formula, and it also provides other preventive health services.

An investment today in healthy babies also is an investment in the future. Healthy babies, adequately nurtured, are more likely to become healthy children, more likely to benefit from education, and more likely to become productive members of society. The children of today are the workers of the year 2000 and beyond.

If they are born healthy today, they can move toward that future. If they are not born healthy, they are at high risk of becoming dependent and costly to their families and to society.

The coalition known as Illinois' Hunger Action earlier characterized infant mortality in Chicago as "public health enemy number one" and sharply criticized the governor for his veto.

He slashed $5 million in WIC and related appropriations. The infant mortality rate is particularly disturbing because of the sharp distinction between whites and non-whites; statistics compiled by the Department of Public Health show infant mortality among non-whites is twice that of white infants.

The number of deaths per 1,000 live births in the U.S. is 10.9; the Illinois rate is 12.3. The only states with higher rates are four southern rural states. Chicago's rate is 61 percent higher than the national average.

The national target goal is 9.0 infant deaths by the year 1990. Illinois will have a very difficult time meeting the national goal. At the very least, we can fight this terrible problem by properly funding WIC.

Unitary tax helped block Saturn plant here

To the Editor:
Now that the courtship of GM's Saturn plant is history, an assessment of why Tennessee rather than Illinois went to the altar seems in order. What did they do right, and what did we do wrong?

It is hard to imagine what short-term subsidies, tax breaks, and special exemptions Illinois did not offer to GM for its Saturn plant.

Illinois promised to: buy a plant site for General Motors; build an "education and community center" for Saturn employees and families; the tune of $100 million; build and subsidize new schools in the area ($50 million over five years); subsidize home mortgages for new employees; help recruit and retain potential employees; and pay for all the new roads and sewers required by the new factory.

In addition, the state promised major tax breaks including sales tax exemptions, property tax abatements, and subsidized unemployment insurance and workers' compensation taxes.

Tennessee, in the words of its governor, Lamar Alexander, "did nothing" — that's right, did nothing — and still landed the Saturn plant.

There were no delegations of high-ranking religious and political figures holding press conferences in Detroit. No free schools, free houses, free roads or free sewers. "There are no tax breaks or free giveaways," GM never said for anyone," said Theodore J. Von Cannon, deputy commissioner of Tennessee's Economic and Community Development Department.

GM was looking for something Illinois doesn't have. "The bottom line for us is that we are looking for a site where we can get a small car inexpensively and do it on a long-term basis," said Saturn spokesman Stan Hall in Newsweek.

"We're not interested in that than in some quick fix a state can offer." Had Illinois officials looked at the state's tax policies and their effects on long-term investment decisions, they would have seen the writing on the wall.

Two recent studies of business climates indicate public policies in Illinois discourage investment and long-term economic growth. The 1985 survey of states' manufacturing business climates conducted by Alexander Grant and Co. reveals comparisons between Illinois and Tennessee.

In many of the survey's factors Illinois is on par with, slightly better than Tennessee. But in seven categories "strongly influenced by state or local government," Illinois ranks far behind. While Illinois pays $391 in unemployment compensation benefits per covered worker, Tennessee pays $173 (the national average is $259). In Illinois, the minimum weekly worker's compensation benefit is $463, while in Tennessee that rate is $136 (the national average is $273).

The second study, which more carefully describes the tax policies of Midwest states, was written by economist James L. Johnston. He maintains that businesses in Illinois are damaged by its personal income tax (Tennessee has none), its high sales taxes (8 percent in the city of Chicago vs. 5 1/2 percent in Tennessee), and its high unemployment compensation rates.

Illinois' "unfriendly" corporate income tax on businesses with out-of-state subsidiaries is blamed for penalizing companies like Volkswagen that have a small car plant in Illinois. The Saturn episode may have proven that Johnston is right: Gov. Alexander cited Tennessee's lack of a unitary tax as one reason for GM's decision to locate Saturn there.

These studies, combined with Saturn's expressed concern with long-term tax and regulatory policies, should make it clear Illinois erred in offering specific, short-term incentives to Saturn.

What Saturn wanted, and what all other industries considering locating or expanding in Illinois want, are lower taxes, fairer tax administration, and lower labor costs.

The campaign for the Saturn plant raises a further question: Should taxing and spending policies be manipulated to favor a few large, highly visible companies, or should these policies be reformed so as to create a business climate where all companies, large or small, have an equal chance of prospering?

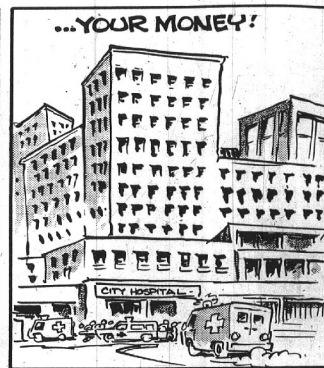

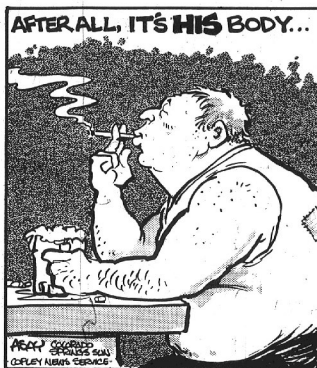

It is a question of effectiveness: in the long run, policies that treat all businesses equally may produce the best results.

For Illinois, the lesson to be learned is that it must begin now to develop a business climate superior to that of Tennessee or other "growth" states.

Illinois' loss of the Saturn plant offers the most conclusive proof to date that tax reductions and labor cost containment measures should apply to all businesses in the state, and be made permanent parts of the state's tax code.

With these measures in place, Illinois will be in the enviable position of having to "do nothing" to become the home of the next Saturn plant.

Thomas Gegich, Granite City

"No, I don't think it is fair. But they should at least have a special use for the money raised (by these taxes) rather than taxing just to put it in the general fund."

A fair way to tax?

Do you think the raising of the federal tax on liquor by approximately $2 per gallon, which went into effect Oct. 1, and the proposed increase of the state tax on cigarettes, by eight cents per pack, are fair ways to increase government revenues?

Bob Cathey, Granite City

"I think it's a fair way. I don't use either one of them, but I think it's a fair way to increase revenues."

Walter Brewer, Granite City

"No, I think it's a little bit unfair. They should put a little tax on liquor and cigarettes, but a moderate tax. I think this is a little too extreme."

Patriotic flag display stolen from overpass

To the Editor:

The 19th Street overpass was decorated with 16 American flags, the money donated by the Granite City Moose Lodge, as a patriotic effort to show Old Glory downtown and to decorate the overpass on patriotic days.

The flags flew for the first time on the overpass this Friday to coincide with the Moose 75th anniversary celebration, a 3-day event at the local lodge. Twelve hours later, after 2:30 in the morning of Saturday, 12 of the flags, poles and brackets were torn loose from the light standards and stolen by vandals.

Truly, this is shocking and a sad state of affairs to have something like this happen in our town. The flags also were to fly this coming Veterans Day to honor our servicemen.

Why anyone would want to tear down this many flags, poles and brackets which cost nearly $300 beyond comprehension and it is very disappointing and demoralizing to think such a thing can happen, especially to our American flag and in our town.

The funds were donated to the Granite City Fire Department, which placed the flags on location. As I had participation in acquiring the flags and a part in having them placed on the overpass, I am dismayed at this flag theft. It was a really thrilling sight to see the flags on display for such a short time. It is doubtful if any more funds or donations can be acquired to get Old Glory back on this location. It looks like a great patriotic project in our town is gone with the wind.

Contractor group calls bill protectionism

To the Editor:

Americans who buy today's construction industry products — whether a developer renovating an old building or a small town enlarging a primary or secondary school, or any of a number of others in the market to build — are witnessing an unprecedented phenomenon. Prices are flat, not even rising with today's modest inflation rate. It is as if the prices of construction projects are stuck in 1979.

A major reason is unprecedented establishment of an alternative — open shop construction by contractors who normally do not perform work under any kind of bargaining agreement with unions. Not many years ago, the vast majority of construction was done by the union sector.

The open shop sector has grown to approximately 70 percent of the market. This occurred during years when unions were demanding, and getting, inflationary and nonproductive wage and fringe benefit increases at the bargaining table. As a result, owners began to invite open shop firms to bid on their projects.

At the bargaining table, a reversal has occurred in recent years. The average agreement being negotiated in 1985 between contractors and unions has a wage increase of less than one percent — that's another reason why prices are staying low.

But instead of continuing this positive trend that reflects the realities of the market place, union leaders and their supporters in Congress are attempting to legislate a kind of protectionism that they seem to believe would allow a return to the past by eliminating competition and, in the process, certain fundamental freedoms. The vehicle is a bill called HR 281.

HR 281 would prevent union contractors' freedom of investing in, buying or forming separate open shop firms, a practice recognized in labor law as "dual shop operation."

Some union contractors now have legislative solution to a very real problem for unions in the construction industry. Yet, the problem of a diminishing market was created by unions themselves. HR 281 does not recognize that reality, but rather imposes protectionism.

Like other forms of protectionism, it would result in higher costs to consumers. However, in contrast to traditional attempts at protectionism from foreign manufacturers of products, HR 281 demands that the union sector of the American construction industry be protected against the open shop sector of the American construction industry.

Trying to force a contractor to operate union-only is like trying to keep a homeowner from refinancing a mortgage when interest rates fall.

Forcing union representation on employees who do not want it is like trying to force someone to join or remain in a club, or a church, against his wishes.

Secondary boycott picketing is akin to deflating the tires of every car in the parking lot if you find that yours has a flat.

The construction industry is driven by market forces. Proponents of HR 281 are trying to end the competitive threat represented by the open shop not by finding ways to compete but rather by fueling the flames with protectionist measures. Should it become law, market forces will come back to burn those who ignored them.

IN OTHER ACTION, Morris Miles, supervisor, reported a request to Madison County Community Development for $15,000 to complete the Long Lake project.

The project has included construction of a new drainage system and road shoulders at Lakeview Drive and Rapp Road.

Pat Foley, town clerk, worried about the possibility of an insurance cancellation when the township's policy terminates in December, requested information from the Bernamen Flowers Insurance Co.

AN INSURANCE ALERT bulletin was the response. It stated insurance companies are in a crisis situation due to frequency of claims and the amount of awards. As a result, rates are rising, the bulletin said.

A possible solution cited was to combine a pool of townships for insurance purposes. Further information and ideas will be sent to the township. It was noted.

The township has scheduled its annual Halloween party for Sunday, Oct. 27, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the township hall.

The board's next meeting is slated for Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. at the township office.

The fire protection district plans to build a new fire station on the site. An adjoining nine acres owned by MESD will be retained by MESD to sell.

Persons wishing to speak to the MESD Board will have until 4 p.m. the day before a board meeting to be put on the agenda, the board decided. The action was taken to avoid interruptions during board meetings.

CANINE CORONAVIRUS

Canine coronavirus was first observed in 1971 with outbreaks occurring in 1972, 1976 and 1978. The importance of the disease has been increased since the outbreak of canine parvovirus. According to researchers at the Washington, Animal, Diagnostic and Laboratory, canine coronavirus occurred in 25 to 35 percent of kennel dogs tested and up to 50 percent of kennel dogs tested.

Canine coronavirus produces symptoms similar to parvovirus and the two diseases are often confused. It affects dogs of all ages but puppies are affected most severely.

Canine coronavirus is a very contagious, spreading rapidly in kennels and at dog shows and is unknown for all of the dogs in a particular kennel. Dogs can be affected by both parvovirus and coronavirus. Some dogs which exhibit mild symptoms and are discharged recover.

The early signs of coronavirus are lethargy, lack of appetite and depression followed by a watery diarrhea. Diarrhea, often lasting up to 10 days, ranges from moderate to severe and profuse. The feces become yellow-orange. Dehydration, weight loss and death have been reported.

Canine coronavirus is spread through direct contact with the feces of an infected dog or contaminated objects. The incubation period for the disease is approximately 24 to 36 hours. The disease can be prevented by vaccination. Contact your veterinarian for more details.

Is your pet suffering from "heavies"? Before resorting to all of the remedies on the market, try this simple method of treatment: consult your veterinarian for a complete flea control program. Effective flea control takes time, effort and is easy, but halfway measures don't get the job done.

WIDE BRIMMED HAT decorated with delicate silk flowers and wider ribbon streamers is exhibited by Gail Lipe. She and her father, Leo Schermer, operate Schermer's Garden Shop in Addison. With the renovation of the greenhouse room, the alcove and rooms feature new and extensive displays of flowers, plants, vines and many other craft decorations.

Renovation enlarges Schermer's garden shop

By DONNA KIMBRO - Staff writer

A renovated greenhouse room at Schermer's Garden Shop in Madison has been completed in time to house autumn floral arrangements for gifts and use in the home.

The new area provides extra space for live blooming plants and vines. Originally, the roof was of glass and large windows facing both east and west gave light and sunshine for the plants. However, the glass roof allowed an excess of heat in the summer and made it difficult to heat in the winter.

A new concept for the room features a covered roof with wide, slatted shutters open to the east and west, filtering light for the benefit of the plants.

Baskets, green vines and natural straw hats as well as the flowers are exhibited for craft persons who wish to complete articles of their own design.

For those who use their own talent in arranging bouquets or centerpieces, there are now displays in six shades of each color, filling the entire wall of one room.

Gail Lipe, Schermer's daughter, and three women employed in the shop create arrangements and have several decorated, wide-brimmed straw hats that can be used to exhibit on a stand, hang on a wall or a popular practice - display on the front door of a home. Dried or silk flowers interspersed with baby's breath encircle the crown of a hat accented with coordinated ribbons.

Most of the floral bouquets and accent pieces are in autumn tones at present. They are tied with bows and ribbon streamers.

Versatile centerpieces are available in harvest style as well as traditional ones that can be used throughout the year.

A small section of the store features exotic flowers reproduced in fragile silk in the natural color, and there also are species in a variety of hues. Each flower and leaf is handmade and wrapped separately. Fans, holders and other materials for those who wish to create their own wedding bouquets, or these items can be used for special orders.

There are groupings of unusual flowers, including the Bird of Paradise.

Artificial flowers range in price, from 25 cents to $10 each. A wide selection of ribbons in every color of the rainbow is designed in small, colonial print, insertable lace, calico, satin and other varieties, sold by the yard.

The garden shop has been in operation for 20 years and each year a new segment of lawn and garden care, plants, shrubs, ornamental lawn figures and pottery has been added to the basic assortment of artificial flowers and supplies.

The shop specializes in seasonal observances and is now setting up displays for the Halloween and Christmas holidays. Each year, there are different types of artificial Christmas trees decorated in an increasingly wide range of motifs.

Wandering through the rooms and viewing the supply counters, a visitor might conclude that if the right color cannot be found here for a particular bouquet or decorative arrangement, it simply doesn't exist.

Man, 23, shot in legs at tavern lot

Police found a man bleeding from both legs, sitting on the steps of a Granite City tavern at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Mark Breeden, 23, of 1309 Washington Ave., Madison, was in critical but stable condition at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he underwent emergency surgery early Tuesday.

Further surgery was required later the same day to repair damage to the right leg and left knee, authorities said.

He was in the parking lot at the Tip Top Tavern, 1746 State St., when someone fired a weapon at him, striking him in both legs, he said.

Breeden was unable to say from which direction the shots came or who fired them. He was being assisted by a friend on the steps of another tavern, in the 1800 block of State, when police arrived.

An ambulance was summoned and Breeden was taken to the medical center.

Lions plan candy days in Madison

Bob Milankovic, owner and operator of Bob's Auto and Tire Sales, will fill one of the biggest jobs in Lionism this year - that of Candy Day chairman for the Madison Lions Club.

Candy distribution is set for Friday, Oct. 11, and Saturday, Oct. 12.

Jim Wells, club president, said the annual event benefits a variety of humanitarian projects for the blind and deaf, including glaucoma and hearing screenings, an eye-donor registry program, a used hearing aid program, a senior citizen program for severe visually and hearing-impaired youngsters. All of these activities are funded primarily through Candy Day.

Lions throughout the state will be manning streetcorners and other public areas, giving away candy and accepting donations.

Also on the Madison candy committee is Andy Economy.

Old Six Mile Museum keeping the past alive

An antique car show and preparation of homemade apple butter are just two of the recent events at the Old Six Mile Historical Society Museum.

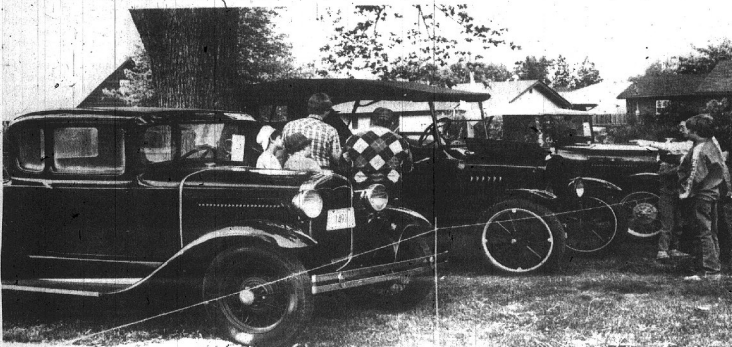

Located in the former Zippel home at 3279 Maryville Road, the museum is presently open to the public on a limited schedule. Hours are 1 to 4 p.m. on Sundays and Wednesdays. The society will make special arrangements for tours of the museum on other days by groups of 10 or more.

Refurbishing of the home and other buildings on the museum property is an ongoing project of the society. The collection of artifacts and other historical items at the museum is growing rapidly, with new items being added to displays regularly.

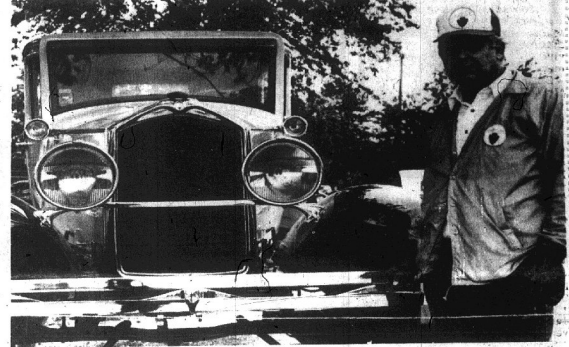

Many area residents are still not aware of the museum, so the society sponsors special events to help draw attention to the displays of this area's colorful history.

The society, with more than 120 members, meets on the first Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Bethel Evangelical Free Church, located across Maryville Road from the museum. The public is invited to attend the meetings and join this group of citizens dedicated to preserving the history of this area for future generations.

Catalog store planned

J.C. Penney Co. Inc. will open its newest Catalog Sales Center at 14 Crossroads Plaza, Granite City, on Wednesday, Nov. 13, according to Edward M. Moothart, manager of the J.C. Penney store at St. Clair Square.

The Catalog Sales Center will offer shop-at-home telephone service. Orders may be picked up at the Sales Center or delivered directly to the home or elsewhere in the U.S. Copies of the regular catalogs will be available at the store, according to Moothart.

More than 700 pages of the current catalog are devoted to fashion apparel for the family, including popular name-label and J.C. Penney private label items. Many items are available in hard-to-find sizes such as petites and tall for women, extra-tall and big sizes for men, prep sizes for boys, and girls' junior-high and half sizes.

Special fashion sections in the Fall/Winter Catalog feature maternity apparel for work or casual wear, and bridal gowns and accessories for the bride, bridesmaids, flower girls and mother of the bride. Other merchandise includes home furnishings and decorative accessories, leisure and recreational goods, furniture, electronics and home entertainment equipment, small appliances, and automotive supplies equipment.

To assist customers with their decorating needs, a collection of swatch books containing bedspread, curtain and drapery samples from the current catalog will be available at the catalog desk, for comparison of colors, textures and patterns.

In addition, special apparel catalogs will be available. Among the catalogs offered are clothing for extra-tall and big men, rugged workclothes, uniforms for women and men, fashion apparel for women's and half sizes, and bridal fashions and accessories.

Moothart said a combination of high-speed communication and rapid truck delivery will enable orders to be filled quickly. Customers may place an order either in person at the store or by calling a toll-free number. As soon as the order is placed, it is relayed electronically to one of six distribution centers, where accuracy of the order is verified and the customer receives immediate confirmation of merchandise availability.

Penney offers credit options, including its own regular and major purchase charge, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

Crime down in city, county, state

Granite City crime was down 17.6 percent in 1984, with the only areas of substantial increases rape (from 4 to 12) and robbery (from 15 to 20), according to a new report by the Illinois Department of State Police.

Reports of major crimes were down in most counties in this region, reflecting a statewide trend. New statistics compiled by the State Police showed a drop for the fourth consecutive year statewide, and a 6 percent decline from 1983. The city of Chicago was excluded because of reporting "difficulties" in the past.

Local police agencies are required to forward reports in four categories of violent crime and four categories of property crime.

Violent crime reports cover murder and voluntary manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault or battery and attempted murder. Property crimes reported for the survey are burglary, theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson.

Statewide, the only categories showing slight increases were assault, battery and attempted murder groups, with a 1.1 percent hike, and motor vehicle thefts, up 2.8 percent over 1983.

In Madison County, total crime reports in 1984 (reported by both local police departments and the sheriff's department) were down 2.9 percent from 1983, with 4,516 reports per 100,000 population compared to 5,187 the prior year.

The only category with a significant increase in 1984 in Madison County was robbery, with 211 reports, compared to 155 in 1983.

The number of murders in the county dropped from 11 to 7. Burglary reports dropped from 3,696 to 3,650 and motor vehicle thefts reported declined from 604 to 591 in 1984.

State ends its leaf-burning ban

The state ban on the open burning of leaves and other "landscape waste" in Madison County and five other counties will end immediately under a bill signed into law by Gov. James Thompson.

The measure will potentially permit the open burning of leaves in Kane, Will, St. Clair, Peoria and Winnebago counties, as well as Madison County.

Previous state law prohibited leaf burning in counties with populations of more than 200,000. The legislature approved by the governor raises the population level to 400,000, leaving only Cook, DuPage and Lake counties subject to the state ban.

Municipalities in Madison County will still have the power to restrict or limit the open burning of leaves by ordinance, however.

Warriors Play Tuesday Fifth Annual Tournament of Champions begins Monday

By GREGG OCHOA

GRANITE CITY — Staff writers — The heat may be on at Busch Stadium, but for high school soccer teams in the Metro East, the competitive boiling point is fast approaching.

Granite City will host its 5th Annual soccer Tournament of Champions at the Gauntlet Oct. 7-12. The event is co-sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co.

Sixteen teams are entered. Teams were randomly divided into groups of four. Each team will be guaranteed at least three games. Semifinalists will be determined by the winners of each group.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students. Each ticket is good all day of a session. Tickets for the semifinal games will be sold separately.

Championship and third place games will be Saturday, Oct. 12 at the Gauntlet.

"We feel this is by far the best tournament in the St. Louis area," boasted Granite City coach Gene Baker.

With apologies to the CYC Tournament, the oldest in the St. Louis area — past history will agree.

FOR ONE, it's a big deal to repeat. In four years there have been four different champions: Vianney, Granite City South, McCluer North and Rosary.

The tourney has grown from four to presently 16 teams. Besides the past winners other schools entered are: SLUH, Desmet, CBC, St. Mary's, Chamblade, Parkway North, Riverview Gardens, Hazelwood East, West and Central, Harrison (Indiana) and Glenbrook North.

"It's really a showcase for some of the best players around," Baker said. "We have colleges that write and call about it. It's really worked out well."

CASE in point: Consider the past winners of the tournament's Most Valuable Player award.

Vianney's Steve Maurer (1981) is now a standout player for St. Louis University.

Granite City's Billy Heney (1982) plays for the South Carolina

Gamecocks.

McCluer North's Tim Schulte (1983) is the starting goalkeeper for Florissant Valley, a traditional junior college power in St. Louis.

Rosary's Tim Strange (1984) now plays for St. Louis University.

NOT ONLY that, but the tournament will feature a select group of coaches who combined have more victories than Dwight Gooden will ever get.

Baker has more than 300 career wins as does Ebbie Dunn who has been the head coach at SLUH since 1952.

State, conference and regional crowns earned by the teams in the field give the tournament added luster.

"The field is such that no one really has an advantage," Baker said.

Some teams usually peak during the tournament, others may not play well but are heard from later in the season. History reminds us of that.

VIANNEY had won two straight Missouri titles prior to the 1983 tournament, but didn't make it to the finals that year. McCluer North won the title. The Stars went on to finish

25-3 and second in the state.

The same year, Glenbrook North travelled south only, but bombed. The Spartans, scored just one goal during their stay. Three weeks later they had won the Illinois state championship.

Rosary, last year's winner, took second in the Missouri state finals. In the tournament the Rebels knocked off powerhouses Desmet and Vianney.

"THERE HAVE been many major upsets along the way," Baker said. "Granite City has been the author of some of those upsets."

Last year the Warriors shocked St. Louis U. High on penalty kicks in the semifinals. At the time, the Junior Billikens were ranked as the top team in the St. Louis area by both daily newspapers.

The 1982 Warrior team, won the title and later capped the Illinois state championship. It was the school's sixth state soccer title.

Following is brief capsule of some of teams competing in this year's field.

WIANNEY: The Golden Griffins have yet to lose in 12 games.

CBC: Gone are all-star Dave Gavvain and John Johnson, but they still roll. CBC has won seven games and is led by Jayme Sadi (five goals) and Craig Berry (four goals).

SLUH: The Junior Billikens have five wins to go with three ties thus far this season. Players to watch include goalie Paul Rulkioeter and Mitch Kemmer.

ROSARY: The Rebels hadn't lost a game on the field until they were forced to forfeit its first five victories of the season. Rosary has rebounded since the penalty with a victory and three ties. Players to watch:

McCLUER NORTH: The Stars dropped from the sky after winning the 1983 title, but are back in form now. North featured a solid defense which earned a 0-0 draw with Vianney.

PRESS-RECORD

Warriors Earn Shutout Dragonslayers! Zukas puts GCH by St. Mary's

Three third-quarter goals lift kickers

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Gene Baker, Granite City High School's varsity soccer coach, has spent much of this fall looking for a team leader, someone to take charge.

Wednesday night, in a game that was a tune-up for the coming Fifth Annual Tournament of Champions, Baker found his team leader. Or perhaps more accurately, the team leader found Baker.

Senior wing Jeff Zukas, a three-year letterman, may be what Baker has spent half the season seeking. Leading a somewhat listless offense of late, Zukas strong-legged two third-quarter shots past St. Mary's goalkeeper, Leroy Messmer to lead the Warriors to a 3-0 victory over the Dragons.

"OH, WAS Zukas outstanding. We've always felt that he has a great deal of talent and tonight he showed us that he does," Baker said. "Such great speed and good moves."

"We've been riding him a little hard lately, but only because we felt like he could come through for us. If we didn't think he could do the job we wouldn't be so hard on him," Baker said.

Leading 1-0 on a penalty kick by Scott Blason in the opening minutes of the third quarter, Zukas and the Warriors went to work.

ZUKAS' first goal came with just more than three minutes remaining in the third quarter. Sophomore Jeff Grote nearly passed off to Zukas who beat a sprawling Messmer at the foulmouth. "A real nice goal," Baker said of Zukas' first tally.

Then, before the commotion of Zukas' initial goal had settled on both the Warriors' bench and in the stands, Zukas came back for an encore.

More than a minute and a half after his first, Zukas, after receiving a pass from another sophomore — Brett Broadwater — rifled a 10-yard blast past the diving Messmer. The goal, which was a beautiful display of touch and fire shooting, once again forced Messmer into horizontal. This time, Messmer sprained his wrist on the attempted save and left the game.

"A real beauty," Baker said of Zukas' second goal.

"WE'VE been missing a lot of (scoring) opportunities. And then, when we do score, it's always in the prettiest way. They're (the goals) like Jeff's, real beauties. It'd be nice to get a few slip goals once in a while," Baker said.

As for Zukas, a 5-foot 9-inch 140-pounder, the goals were his third in three games and his third and fourth of the season.

Why, all of a sudden, has Zukas become the Warriors' most lethal weapon?

"Gee," Baker has been trying to get me to take the ball in, to the goal. I'm doing that now and the shots are coming," Zukas said.

"WE HAVEN'T been scoring a real lot of goals lately, so coach is trying some different things."

"My best game? Yeah, I think so. I'd like to think that things are coming around for me, but as far as being the team leader, I don't know if you can say that. I know I'd like to be that person. I want to be that person," Zukas said.

While Zukas and company were piercing the Dragons' defense with some regularity, the Warrior defense was having a banner night of its own.

"I THINK our defense played a heck of a lot better tonight," Baker said. "Joe Gray was steady. (Todd) Adamitis was his usual super self and (Gary) Sikora was very competitive. I think the whole defense played a fine game."

As for St. Mary's, Dragon Coach Steve Bettlach said the Warriors

WARRIOR ASSAULT. Granite City High School's soccer team gave St. Mary's all it could handle during Wednesday night's non-conference soccer game at the Gauntlet. On and on.

just outplayed" his squad.

"You know what kind of game you're going to get when you come here to Granite City," Bettlach said.

Their (GCHS) Tournament of Champions' tournament and everything. Gene's got quite a team. He always does, but our guys played well. I thought we had a fine first half and a good fourth quarter. We let down some and made some mistakes in the third quarter, but Granite City's tough."

THE VICTORY improves the Warriors' record to 8-0-4 on the season and leaves but one game, with Belleville West on Saturday, before beginning tourney play on Tuesday. St. Mary's fell to 4-7 on the season.

In junior varsity action, the Warriors came back from a one-goal deficit to beat the jayvee Dragons 3-1.

Freshman Chris Ryan tied the game on a penalty kick to set the stage for Mike Sells' go-ahead tally late in the game.

The Warriors "iced" the game when Rick Pyle punted a 15-yarder past the Dragons' defense with just 1:35 left in the game. The come-from-behind victory improved the Jayvees record to 10-0-2.

Netters whip Est L, but drop two others

GRANITE CITY — It's been a week of feast or famine for the Granite City High School tennis team. In three matches last week, the Warriors have won 7-0 and lost by scores of 7-0 and 6-1.

In a match that was rescheduled because of rain, the Warriors defeated Southwest Conference rival East St. Louis 6-0 Friday at the Grand Ave. courts. Both sides lost to Belleville East on Monday and Hazelwood East on Tuesday.

The most recent trend of events drop the Warriors' record to 5-6 and 2-3 in the league.

AGAINST East Side Friday, the Warriors' Marcia Williams wasted little time in disposing Johnnie Walker in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, of their first singles match.

In second singles, Desire Rattler proved somewhat more competitive against Linda Bruer, but the Warriors still emerged victors, 6-0, 6-1.

Andy Suarez bounced back nicely following a loss last week to shut out Stephanie Pittman in straight sets 6-0, 6-0 while Sandy Taylor breezed by Alicia Owens 6-1, 6-0, in fourth singles.

In doubles action, the Warriors almost unmercifully whipped the Flyerettes allowing just one game scored against them in 37.

IN FIRST DOUBLES, Dawn Bower and Jima Gozales turned back Johnnie Walker and Tawanda Walker 6-0, 6-1. Because the Flyerettes entire team consists of just five team members, all of the girls had to double back and play doubles.

In second doubles Owens and Tawanda Walker teamed up against Jaymie Seibert and Julie Gabriel only to lose in straight sets without scoring a victory.

Third doubles wasn't any better for the Flyerettes. Janis Hagauer and Lori Hubert shut out Pittman and Rattler 6-0, 6-0 to preserve the Warrior shutout.

This week, on Monday against SWC foe Belleville East, the Warriors were 7-0 losers and then on Tuesday, Granite City was also victimized by the Spartans 6-1.

This afternoon the Warriors will travel to Alton to meet the Redwings for a 4 p.m. match.

Madison Homecoming

Yates warns not to look past Crusaders

By GREGG OCHOA

GRANITE CITY — Staff writer — Having an open date in the middle of the season was both a blessing and a curse for the Granite City High School football team.

"If we hadn't won (against Collinsville) I think the past week would have been a little more unbearable," said Warrior coach Ron Yates.

For Granite City (1-3) it's back to work as the Warriors host Belleville Althoff (1-4). Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

Granite City used the time off to refine its defense as they seek their second consecutive win. The Warriors have yet to string back-to-back victories together in Yates' two seasons at head coach.

"ALTHOFF should be a true test of well a football team we are," Yates said. "They are a much better team than their record."

The Crusaders played Alton tough in a 9-0 loss and dropped a 7-6 decision to Belleville West. Last week, Althoff fell to Belleville West.

Yates hopes his team can pick up where it left off after swamping Collinsville 42-7 on Sept. 30. It was the first time in more than five years that Granite City piled up that many points in a game.

"We played power football," Yates said.

ALTHOFF, the Warriors will likely see much the same thing. The Crusaders are running team who like the bruising style of play.

"They give you a lot of different looks (offensively)," said Bob Stegemeier, assistant coach and defensive coordinator. "They line up balanced and unbalanced and that can cause confusion."

Stegemeier said the week off was helpful in plotting defensive strategy for Friday's game.

"I gave us more time to work on their shifts," Yates added.

THE WARRIORS aired out things with a controlled scrimmage Saturday. The Red team won 21-18. "It helped substitute for some of the blank spots; but I would have just as soon played," Yates said.

Against Collinsville, Granite City played solid on defense and swiped six Kahok passes. Dave Gushliff had four thefts.

Yates attributes the Warriors' improvement to aggressive defense and good pressure on the quarterback. "We changed our defense to suit our personnel," Yates explained.

Three juniors — John Kabbendian, Charlie Yarbber and Scott Evans — were on starting assignments and breathed some life into the Warrior defense.

SOME OTHER changes included moving senior Steve Davis into the secondary. He began the season at a defensive end slot. Bryan Dillon (end) has also played well on defense.

"The kids are improving individually," Yates said. "Now, it's up to the coaching staff to bring them together as a team."

Offensively, the Warriors are back at full strength. Dave Tatum, who rushed for more than 100 yards against East St. Louis, was slowed by a groin injury. He is now healthy.

Two weeks ago, Granite City got a boost from Fred Becker who was inserted in the "pro back" position. Becker responded with two touchdowns against Collinsville.

ODDLY enough, it was against East Side that Yates began to see his team develop. Despite the lopsided score, there was one statistic that didn't go unnoticed by Yates. Granite City gained nearly 200 yards in total offense.

Granted (East Side) had their second defense in during the second half, but that was one of the positives we stressed afterwards."

Last year Althoff jopped the Warriors 26-14 in the mud. Yates still remembers that game vividly.

"I really think with a dry field we could have gotten them," Yates said.

FRIDAY'S game should be close. Althoff's defense has given up just 62 points, an average of 12.4 per game.

"They'll be physical like they always are," Yates said. "Althoff may be down a little from their playoff years, but they will be strong."

In other area football, Madison will try to extend its unbeaten string to five games against Red Bud. The 7:30 p.m. game at Sam Dymas Memorial Field is the Trojans homecoming.

Sports Special

'Love of sport' has special meaning for Cook

Warrior Soccer Statistician

By ALLAN GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

Sixteen-year-old Mike Cook is a sports fan.

Unlike most youths his age who have played Park League baseball or organized soccer, Cook has never felt the jubilation of swatting a home run or scoring a game-winning goal.

Worse yet, Mike Cook has never walked on a baseball diamond, or soccer field. He's never taken a step.

Mike Cook has Werdnig Hoffmann Syndrome, a crippling, muscular disease which is a form of muscular dystrophy. Doctors became suspicious that he may be afflicted with the disease when, at two years old, he hadn't yet begun to walk.

Although he has never participated in sports, it can't be said that he has not experienced the camaraderie that draws teammates together. The statistician for Granite City High School's varsity soccer team, he is every bit a part of the Warriors' squad. He has been a "member" of the team for three years.

"A member of the team?" Scott Biason fired back. "He sure is. He's as much a part of this team as anybody is." Biason said in a way that sounded as though he was defending Cook's integrity.

"He knows soccer as well as any of us who play it. His statistics help the whole team, a lot. When we win, he wins with us and when we lose he gets down with the rest of us."

Now in his third year as the Warriors' statistician, Cook has progressed along with his classmates in the Warrior soccer program.

As a freshman, he was responsible for keeping game statistics—shots, saves, fouls and corner kicks. Two years later he has graduated to more sophisticated statistic keeping. During a recent soccer game at the Gauntlet, Cook was counting and timing the Warriors' restarts and how long it took them to put the ball back into play, an important statistic the Warrior coaching staff uses to critique play.

"I can say many things about Mike Cook," began assistant coach Mel Bunting. "But above all of them the one thing that makes him so valuable to us is his love for soccer. I can tell you that he really loves this game."

Pausing for a moment, Bunting offered an example of Cook's love for soccer and his desire to help the Warriors win.

"We were at Alton the other night," Bunting said. "It's a great field, but there isn't a game clock. We had no idea how much time was left in the game. I turned to the referees and asked, 'Does anyone know how much time is left?' and from behind me comes this voice. 'A minute 38 seconds, coach.' It was Mike. He had been keeping time all game with the stopwatch on his wristwatch. No one had asked him to do that. He just did it. That's the kind of young man he is."

Mike Cook has been a soccer fan for all but three years of his life. At 3 he began going to games to watch his older brother, Don, play. A midfielder, the elder Cook, played in various organized leagues before blossoming in high school and helping the Warriors win three of their seven state soccer championships.

"I've just always been around it (soccer)," Mike Cook said during a recent game. "We'd go out to see my brother play and before I knew it I was hooked. I can't play, but keeping statistics still gives me a feeling that I can be part of the game. And, I enjoy it."

This summer Cook offered his statistic-keeping prowess to the Granite City Park District, and it accepted. Almost from the day school ended last spring to the day he went back to school this fall Cook was the official scorekeeper at Worthen Park.

"It was quite a job being out there all day long, but I enjoyed it. It was a good experience."

While the park district discovered Cook's talent for assembling statistics this spring, it didn't take members of the media as long.

During last year's Tournament of Champions Cook was a point of attention for not only local media, but the St. Louis dailies as well. At game's end, when varying statistics were turned in by the media, Cook eloquently settled the discrepancies.

"I've got stats," Cook offered. Then like a ticker tape machine, the sought-after numbers rolled off his tongue as reporters swarmed around his wheelchair and scribbled statistics. "Shots were... fouls were... and corner kicks were..." Cook said. "Do you also need offside?"

The media was silent for a moment as if he were thinking, "who is this person." But it wasn't long before some of the best known sports reporters' names in St. Louis were looking over Cook's shoulder at his statistic sheet.

"Mike's really quite an inspiration to all of us. Quite a guy," said Warrior back Joe Gray. "He's out here all the time, ALL the time. There are times when, you know, we don't want to come out. You just don't feel like practicing. But when you feel like that and then you see Mike, out here in the cold and weather, and you know it's a lot harder for him to be out here than it is you. He's a lot to a lot of us."

Cook's inspiration to the team may be a spin-off of his good attendance record. In short, his attendance record during the last three years is impeccable.

During that time he has never missed a regular-season game, home or away. Including games in St. Louis, Quincy and even Indiana.

In three years, the only game he has missed was the Warriors' bid for an eighth state championship in 1983. He didn't make that trip to St. Charles, a Chicago suburb.

One reason Cook's attendance record is as good as it is can be attributed, in part, to Cook's family, particularly his parents.

Unable to drive, Mike Cook has been brought to the game by either of his parents, Don or Betty Cook.

"Usually my dad brings me, but when he can't my mom steps in," Mike Cook said. "Yeah, they're pretty good parents. Pretty good to bring me to all the games. I don't know if all parents would be as supportive as mine have been."

A gauger on the hot strip mill at Granite City Steel, Don Sr. plays down his commitment.

"It takes a lot of time, but I don't mind. In all honesty, I probably enjoy watching the games as much as he does. It's a good time and Mike enjoys being able to help the team, to contribute."

"You know I never have been one filled with compliments. I guess that's not my style. But I'm really proud of him and the things that he's accomplished," Don Sr. said. "You give him an assignment and he sees it through to the end. He's very conscientious."

"With Mike I've lived by three rules: I've never lied to him about his ability or inabilities. I always try to be honest with him and I never try to lead him to believe that he can do something that he can't."

"I believe he'd like to work somewhere in sports, an announcer or a statistician. Something in communications. Maybe stay with the numbers," Don Sr. said.

"Whatever it is he'll be good at it."

Governor's Cup this weekend

EDWARDSVILLE — The soccer Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be hoping to rebound from dropping two games last weekend as they attempt to get back into the race for an NCAA Tournament berth this weekend when they open the two-day Illinois Governor's Cup Tournament in Charleston.

The Cougars, who enter the tournament with a 5-5 record, will square off against Western Illinois University, Friday at 1 p.m., while the host team from Eastern Illinois University will play Northern Illinois University in the other first-round game at 3 p.m.

THE TOURNEY is scheduled to conclude Saturday with the consolation game kicking off at 1 p.m. and the championship match starting at 3 p.m.

Heading into last week's action, the Cougars were ranked fourth in the Midwest Region, a region that could send two, three or four teams to the post-season tournament. Eastern Illinois entered last week's games ranked second, while the Cougars' first-round opponent, Western Illinois, was selected as the ninth best team in the Midwest.

THE COUGARS will enter the Governor's Cup Tournament on the wake of suffering through a pair of one-goal losses.

Friday, against the University of Evansville, the Cougars dropped a 2-1 decision to the seventh-ranked team in the NCAA. Sunday, the Cougars lost their eighth consecutive game to Indiana University, 3-2, in Bloomington, Ind.

Following the Governor's Cup Tournament, the Cougars will take the next week to prepare for an Oct. 13 match against the University of Missouri-St. Louis. The Cougars return to Cougar Field Oct. 19 when they host the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, which is off to its best start ever, and Oct. 20 when SIUE squares off against the University of Illinois-Chicago.

Local Chapter DU banquet, auction a success

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — Few organizations do more for wildlife and preservation of its habitat than International Ducks Unlimited.

A group consisting mainly of duck and goose hunting enthusiasts in the United States, Canada and Mexico, Ducks Unlimited is committed to the survival and proliferation of North American waterfowl. One way to ensure the birds' survival is through fund raising, now an annual affair in Granite City.

RECENTLY, the Granite City chapter of the waterfowl preservationists gathered to do its part — raise money so DU can continue its conservation practices. And, they did so in a big way. Big to the tune of $5,000.

In all, about 200 people attended the Sept. 6 banquet at the Knights of Columbus Hall, estimated local DU chairman Tony Zedolek.

"We're pretty happy with the turnout. It was a lot better than last year," Zedolek said of the second annual affair. "We want to thank all those people who attended, those who participated in the auction and, of course, all the businesses and banks that helped to make it a success. Without their cooperation the banquet wouldn't have been a success," Zedolek said.

IN ADDITION to the banquet fee, which covered meal expenses and a DU membership, there were additional revenue-generating techniques. Among them are the ever-popular auction of wildlife art and paraphernalia and various drawings for the gaming sort.

For example, Betty Thomas was the winner of the limited-edition Ducks Unlimited 12-gauge shotgun. The firearm, which is attractively etched with the DU logo, is valued at $700.

Another big winner was Fred McCulligan, the lucky recipient of a Mossberg gun valued at $200.

AS FOR the auction, the highest bidder of perhaps the most unusual pieces of paraphernalia was Ed Crawford. Crawford bought two sink boxes, an old, now frowned upon method for hunting ducks.

Sink boxes are, actually, just that: Air and water-tight boxes that are placed in water draining the hunter a dry, water surface area to hunt.

These two boxes have somewhat of an interesting past, according to Zedolek. The boxes, which went for $140, were once owned by millionaire J.P. Morgan, who was an avid waterfowler.

ALTHOUGH the auction was the highlight of the evening, it was Frank O. Pinion and Lee Sherwood, two St. Louis radio personalities who drew the most crowd response.

Pinion, as he is known in radio, provided numerous jokes and one-liners that, at times, would even embarrass a sailor.

Other personalities attending included Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse, Darlene Laub, tax assessor, and Mike Modrusick, seventh ward alderman.

GUEST SPEAKERS. Frank O. Pinion, left, and Lee Sherwood, disc jockeys for KUSA AM Radio in St. Louis, joked and laughed their way through their segment of the Ducks Unlimited Banquet held recently at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City. ## Prep Golf Warriors fall to Edwardsville

By JAMES BLASINGAME
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City High School golf squad fired a 157 team total at Sunset Hills Country Club on Tuesday, but the host Tigers were seven strokes better.

Edwardsville, which remains unbeaten in three years of regular season matches, turned in a 150 score to also blast Wood River (176) and Roxana (177) in the four-team contest.

The Warriors had their best outing this season at Sunset, but according to Granite City coach Russ Chappell, the Tigers are just too tough.

"We shot real well. We shot a 157, but we lost by seven strokes," Chappell said matter-of-factly. "We're just not as good as those people at Edwardsville."

With the Southwestern Conference Tournament today at Arlington Golf Club, Granite City players were doing some fine tuning of their games during Tuesday's round.

In particular, two Granite City seniors made good. Alan Gerard carded a season low 37 and was low-man for the Warriors. And Steve Schatz's game, which Chappell called a W.O.L. for the past several weeks, returned Tuesday as he fired a 39.

MIKE STURMAN turned in a 40, his season average, and Bill Gaumer and Mike Wilkinson both recorded 41's for Tuesday's 157 score.

Chappell feels that today's conference tourney will have one of three teams emerge as champion — Belleville West, Alton, or Granite City.

"Everybody says it's a three-team race," said Chappell. "We (Granite City) lost one conference match — to Belleville (West). West hasn't lost any, and Alton has lost two (to West and the Warriors)."

Granite City fell to Belleville West 164-167 on the Maroons' home course at Clinton Hills. This time, the Warriors have the home court advantage.

"We think we can beat them (West)," Chappell said. "We think we can win the conference tournament."

Fanfare accompanies QCSA parade

GRANITE CITY — One reason why the Quad-Cities Soccer Association is among the largest youth soccer organizations in Southern Illinois is its concern for youth, their development and its ability to understand the wants and needs of the youths on its member teams.

Recently, during the organization's annual parade that kicks off its fall season, the organization's concern for youth was evident at the event and the festivities which followed at St. Elizabeth's soccer field.

Leading the parade was Jeff Cacciariatore of the St. Louis Steamers accompanied by six Steamheat beauties and Granite City mayor Von Dee Cruse. Dave Fernandez, who formerly played at Granite City High School South and was drafted by the Los Angeles Lakers, was also one of the parade leaders.

Also participating in the parade were the Elks' Klowns of local Elks' Lodge 1063. The klowns walked the parade route and the grounds passing candies and balloons.

In addition to the giveaways given by the klowns, approximately 300 youths received prizes from various citywide and St. Louis banks and businesses.

BELLEVEILLE AREA COLLEGE GRANITE CITY CAMPUS ATHLETE of the WEEK

Tim Clucas was named Athlete of the Week for September 23-29 at the Granite City Campus.

Clucas was a key performer in all four of the State soccer contests this week. The midfielder scored goals in victories over Lincoln (3-0) and East Central (5-0). In a tough 1-0 loss to the number one junior college team in the nation, Lewis and Clark, Clucas delivered outstanding play for the entire game.

Completing a busy week, Tim battled back from an injury to help preserve a 0-0 tie with Sauk Valley.

Clucas, a freshman, is from Riverview Gardens.

Psalms 23:3... "He restoreth my soul."

This is one of the most quoted Scripture verses of the Bible. And what a message comes flowing through this statement!

He, Magnificently God! Exalt Him! Lift Him up in praise and He will in turn exalt you. All things work together for good to them who love God. God knows what he is doing in your life. He can make evil turn and work for your good.

He will restore your soul. Cast every care upon him because he cares for you. Accept his Spirit now. His presence now. Feel your soul soar into this heaven, and feel it being restored! He will restore your soul.

Church Activities

Father Joseph Roelke new St. Joseph Church pastor

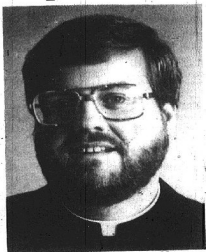

The congregation of St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, 2100 State St., has welcomed its new pastor, the Rev. Joseph Roelke, M.S.S. He began his duties at the local church two weeks ago.

His formal education began at Holy Family Seminary in Overland, Mo., and then he went to East Los Angeles Community College in California. Upon graduation there, he enrolled at Forest Park Community College in St. Louis and attended St. Louis University. He received his final degree from Kenrick Seminary, St. Louis.

Rev. Roelke has served as vocational director of the Congregation Missionary of the Holy Family in Overland, a position he retains, and has for three years been chaplain at St. Joseph Institute for the Deaf in University City, Mo.

This school has children enrolled from pre-school age through the eighth grade; when they complete this span of their education, they are qualified to attend any school they wish. The technique is lip reading and it prepares them for other schools, the pastor said.

Father Joe was coordinator, for five years, of a children's school at St. Albert the Great in Compton, Calif., and was vocational director for four years.

"My main plan for St. Joseph parish is to listen to what the people's concerns are and to meet with the church advisory board to plan and discuss programs and activities for both the youth and adults," the new pastor said.

He added that St. Ann Altar Society has resumed its monthly meetings after being disbanded for several months.

Rev. Joseph Hall pastor at Niedringhaus Methodist

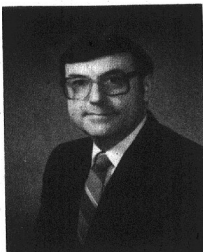

The Rev. Joseph Hall and his family have arrived in Granite City to serve Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue.

Born in 1944 in Carmi, Ill., Rev. Hall was educated at Carmi Township High School and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and graduated from McKendree College, Lebanon, in 1966. He also graduated from Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D.C., in May 1971.

He has served pastorates that included Brownsville-Bethel-Center-ville in 1962 to 1964; youth director at Harrisburg First United Methodist Church, June 1964 until October 1965; and interim pastor at St. Jacob Methodist Church, October 1965 to May 1971.

Rev. Hall served Cahokia Faith Methodist Church in 1966-67 and was Baltimore, Md., conference camp director in 1968, assistant pastor of the Takoma Park, Md., church, 1968-69, and assistant pastor of Glenmont United Methodist Church, Wheaton, Md., May 1969 to May 1971.

He served as pastor of Evangelical United Methodist Church in Wood River, June 1971 to June 1975; Trinity United Methodist Church and Orient Church in West Frankfort, Ill., June 1975 to June 1978, and prior to coming to Granite City, Trinity United Methodist Church in Mount Carmel, June 1978 until June 1985.

Rev. Joseph Hall

Presently he holds conference positions of secretary of the Conference Board of Ordained Ministry, and assistant conference secretary. He serves on the Section on Evangelism of the Board of Discipleship and has been appointed as East St. Louis District Mission secretary.

He and his wife, the former Barbara Wonders of Sreator, Ill., were married on Jan. 30, 1966. They are the parents of two children, Mark Edwin, born Aug. 1, 1970, in Silver Spring, Md., and Maria Elise Hall, born May 22, 1979, in Mount Carmel.

The first program of the series, a lecture by George W. Ball, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, will be Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m.

Included in Arts & Issues will be renowned dance troupes such as the Alvin Ailey Repertory Ensemble and the National Theater of the Deaf and the Chamber Society of Lincoln Center. The speakers in the series, "chosen on the basis of their individual expertise and ability to present topics of interest and wide appeal," include such notables as Ambassador Ball, John Galbraith, Edwin Newman, and Dr. Michael DeBakey.

A special South Africa program, scheduled for February, 1986, includes dramatic and dance productions, a panel discussion, and a presentation by Donald Woods, special consultant on South Africa to the Commonwealth of Nations and former editor of the "East London Daily Dispatch."

Tickets for both the entire series and individual events will be available in early October. The cost of the general public admission pass for the 16-program series is $20. Tickets for individual events are $3. In addition, several performances, panels, and workshops will be free of charge. For program and ticket information, interested persons may call 1-692-2320 or write to: University Ticket Office, Campus Box 1067, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026-1067.

$80 million budget approved for SIUE

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees approved a $80.4 million operating budget last week for the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses and Office of the Chancellor, based on state appropriations and anticipated non-appropriated income for Fiscal Year 1986, which began July 1.

The budget, which reflects an increase of about $23.9 million or 8.3 percent over last year, is based on estimated income of $199.7 from state appropriations and $110.7 in non-appropriated funds. Total budgets for each campus are: SIUE Carbondale, $228.4 million; SIUE at Edwardsville, $80.4 million; and Office of the Chancellor, $1.6 million.

Of state appropriations, which account for 64.3 percent of the total operating budget, the Carbondale campus will receive $141.3 million, an increase of 9.4 percent over last year, while the Edwardsville campus will receive $56.8 million, an increase of about 8.8 percent, and the Office of the Chancellor will receive $1.6 million, an increase of 10.7 percent. All the figures include retirement fund contributions.

State appropriated funds consist of general revenue funds (tax dollars) and income fund collections, derived primarily from tuition and fees. General revenue funds will support about 50.5 percent of the projected FY 86 budget, while income fund collections are expected to support about 13.8 percent. The remaining 35.7 percent of expected revenue comes from non-appropriated funds.

Projected non-appropriated funds represent a net increase of nearly $7 million or 6.7 percent over last year, with the Carbondale campus budgeted for $87.1 million, an increase of $6.2 million or 7.9 percent over last year, while the Edwardsville campus is budgeted for $23.6 million, an increase of $639 thousand, a gain of 2.7 percent.

Funds in the non-appropriated category include revenues received in support of research and other programs sponsored by governmental entities and private foundations and corporations; revenues received as reimbursement of indirect costs on sponsored programs; income from operation of revenue bond financed auxiliary enterprises, principally housing and student center operations; and revenues from other self-supporting auxiliary enterprises and activities which are funded primarily by student fees and operating charges.

The increase in state appropriated funds provides salary increases of approximately 6.5 to eight percent, general cost increases of four percent, utility cost increases of 6.1 percent, and library cost increases of seven percent.

The budget includes nearly $3.9 million to improve the quality of academic programs, with $2.8 million for SIUE at Carbondale and about $1.1 million for SIUE at Edwardsville.

Also included are a number of adjustments to the FY-86 budget, including: implementation of financial guidelines recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education - negative adjustments of $23,900 for SIUC and $12,200 for SIUE; a negative base adjustment of $196,300 to the SIUE School of Medicine; and cost recovery instruction adjustments - a positive adjustment of $614,700 for SIUC and a negative adjustment of $183,300 for SIUE.

High school students can preview SIUE

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will welcome area high school juniors and seniors to the second annual "Preview SIUE," a University-wide open house scheduled Saturday, Oct. 12.

"Preview SIUE" will enable students to learn more about the academic programs and departments at the university, student services and on-campus housing at Tower Lake Apartments.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the University Center and continue throughout the day. After coffee and donuts in Goshen Lounge, opening events will begin at 9 a.m. in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center.

A second round of opening events will begin at 1 p.m. Throughout the day, students and parents will be able to attend departmental presentations and consult with faculty at various locations on campus.

Information about student services and campus activities will be presented in Opaki Lounge in the University Center by representatives from admissions, advisement and counseling, financial assistance, student employment, campus housing, career planning and health services. Representatives of student government, intercollegiate and intramural athletics, and various student organizations will also be present in the University Center.

A complimentary lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in Morris Quadrangle at the center of the campus. The School of Fine Arts and Communications will provide musical and theatrical entertainment during lunch.

Interested persons may obtain a complete schedule of activities and further information by contacting the University's Information Center at 1-692-2739.

Director of county arts center chosen

Dr. Gont Michaeloff of Granite City, acting president of the Wiley Arts Center, announced this week that John Phillip Peecher has been named executive director of the organization.

"We're pleased to have him working for us," Dr. Michaeloff said. "Our plans of making the Wiley Arts Center an educational, cultural and entertainment center for the entire county are one step closer to being realized."

Peecher will be handling community development, resources development, and publicity/marketing along with other Arts Center related projects. An office has been opened in the Wiley Arts Center at 252 N. Main St. in Edwardsville.

A 1973 graduate of Illinois State University, Peecher returned to the Edwardsville area two years ago. Prior to that, he was an editor at Bantam Books and the story editor for an independent movie and television producer in New York City.

In 1982, he was hired by Lucasfilm Ltd. in California as an editor for the books based on the movie "Return of the Jedi," third film in the "Star Wars" trilogy. He wrote and edited the book, "The Making of Return of the Jedi." In June 1984, a teenage love story he wrote was published by Pocket Books.

For the past two years, Peecher has been a freelance writer. He has had articles published in "St. Louis Magazine," "Commerce Magazine," and "Crain's Illinois Business," among others. Currently, he is represented by the September cover story on St. Louis Centre in "Commerce Magazine," and the Michele Mystery Minute, an original 47-part radio murder mystery contest script that aired on KS-94 in September.

The Wiley Arts Center, formerly the Wiley Theater, is owned and operated by the Madison County Arts Council Inc., a not-for-profit corporation that serves the arts in Madison County.

Founded in 1981, the MCAC sponsors a series of visiting artists and performers throughout the school year to all the schools in the county.

It is partially funded by the Illinois Arts Council. The Wiley became a part of MCAC in 1985.

Plans for the remainder of 1985 include a 12-week movie program for children and adults that began on Sept. 29, the kickoff of the MCAC series in early October, a recital by internationally known pianist Ruth Slenczynska on Oct. 12, and a fully staged production of the play "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at Christmas.
